"HUMAN FLY" FALLS DURING EXHIBITION WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Earl "Eastman" Westman Breaks Bones in Feet and Wrists in Fall

"LAST CLIMB" SAYS YOUNG DAREDEVIL WEDNESDAY

Was Coming Down Stoddard Wall When Accident Occurred

"That was my last climb," said the statement of Earl "Eastman" Westman, 29-year-old "human fly," made Wednesday evening at St. Francis hospital where he was taken after falling a story and a half from the side of the Stoddard hotel where he was giving an exhibition of wall scaling for the benefit of the Federated Shopkeepers.

Westman had made the climb to the roof of the building and part way up the facade, and was on the return trip when the accident occurred. He was trying to climb down into a second story window when his slight hold on the brick wall slipped away from him. In falling, he shoved himself as far away from the wall as possible so that he would miss the railing below. He landed feet first on the sidewalk, the force of the fall breaking the bones in both feet and both wrists. Somehow in the fall both arms were broken at the wrists, and the muscles of his chest badly strained.

Westman, whose home is in Stillwater, Minn., is said to be the youngest man doing a "human fly" stunt in the country, as well as one of the best. He claims to be the only one in the business who climbs back down after making an ascent and it was coming down that he "got his."

Barry, Hamilton, Hamor, Jones and Farmington will be visited next Monday.

Word has been received in La Crosse that Oscar Colton died recently in Southern California, leaving no known heirs in that state.

Mr. Colton was the son of A. D. Colton who is thought to have been in business in this city about 1860, and the city authorities here have been asked to help to locate any descendants.

If any descendants of the brother are still living, they may prove to be legal heirs of Oscar Colton.

Senate Kills Move To Have Volstead Quit

WASHINGTON. — Resignation of Representative Volstead, republican, Minnesota, as chairman and member of the house judiciary committee, because of help alleged to have been given him in the last election by the Anti-Saloon League, was requested in a resolution read in the house Thursday by Representative Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts.

Immediately after reading of the resolution had been concluded, Representative Mann, republican, Illinois, moved that it be laid on the table, and the motion was adopted with a loud chorus of ayes.

After the resolution had been laid on the table, which was tantamount to killing it, there was a demand, led by Representative Dyer, republican, Missouri, to strike it from the record and this was ordered, 141 to 3.

PASSAGE OF BONUS BILL THIS WEEK IS HELD POSSIBLE

Individual Amendments Not Expected to Take Long Time for Debate

SMOOT WILL OFFER SALES TAX ADDITION TO BILL

McNary Will Offer Land Reclamation Feature

WASHINGTON. — Committee changes in the house soldiers' bonus bill having been approved, the senate turned Thursday to consideration of individual amendments. Disposition of these was not expected to consume a great deal of time, and passage of the measure this week was regarded by some leaders as a possibility.

Pending amendments included that by Senator Bursam, republican, New Mexico, proposing half cash and half certificates of indebtedness for the veterans. This proposal was rejected Wednesday without debate or a roll-call, but the vote was reconsidered so that Senator Bursam might discuss the amendment today.

Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, ranking republican on the finance committee, has in mind a paid-up insurance plan and also a sales tax amendment. Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, plans to present the land reclamation bill as a substitute for the land settlement action approved by the committee.

The speed with which the senate worked late Wednesday came as something of a surprise to most friends of the bill who had looked for determined opposition. It was understood, however, that opponents, believing President Harding would veto the measure, were disposed to let it go through this time without extended discussion. Should the president return it without his approval, they expected to center their efforts against its passage over his veto and believed they would be successful.

DOLLY QUINN PAYS $100 FINE, SERVES 30-DAY SENTENCE

The ten day period of inactivity in police court was broken Thursday when Paul Meyer and Perry Mosser, all of Caladonia, were arraigned before Judge Hunt and fined $7.50 apiece on a charge of drunkenness.

Fred Brischach paid $12.50 for speeding.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The National Tube company here announces an advance on the price of steel pipe to meet an increase posted by independent makers a week ago. Standard pipe black, was increased $6.00 a ton while standard pipe galvanized, went up $4.00 a ton. Other goods were advanced in proportion.

BROTHERHOODS SUGGEST PLAN AS COMPROMISE

Railroad Executives Reject Flatly Demand of Men for Restoration of Seniority

PLAN NOW THAT EACH ROAD SHOULD SETTLE WITH MEN

Utmost Secrecy Surrounds Morning's Meeting of Railroad Council

NEW YORK.—By the Associated Press. — "It's now up to the shopmen," said a spokesman for the Big Five brotherhood chiefs Thursday afternoon, after they had conferred with a committee representing a group of about twenty roads on a proposition for effecting separate settlements between individual roads and striking shopmen.

This was taken in some quarters as indicating that representatives of the running trades and representatives of the roads totalling about twenty-five percent of the mileage of the United States had reached some sort of definite proposal for settlement, which has been reported to the shopcrafts, at a meeting with the mediating brotherhood chiefs which followed the session with executives.

"We are still mediating," said Warren S. Stone, spokesman for the brotherhood men, when the meeting adjourned at 1:25 p. m., without announcing whether another session would be held today.

Meeting Secret

The chief of locomotive engineers declined further to discuss the meeting which was surrounded by the utmost secrecy. He hastened to the Hotel Woodstock to confer at labor headquarters with leaders of stationary crafts.

The possibility of individual lines settling with their striking shopmen was raised by leaders of the running trades, appearing as mediators at the conference Wednesday with the entire membership of the Association of Railway Executives, which rejected the proposal of the brotherhood men that the rail heads yield on the disputed question of seniority rights.

The Big Five leaders conferred until after midnight with a score or more of executives who, when the general conference adjourned, expressed a willingness to continue negotiations, although reaffirming their common stand against the unions' seniority proposals.

The executives also rejected an eleven hour peace proposal by the brotherhood chiefs that the strikers be reinstated as of June 30, when the strike was called, without specific mention of seniority.

Stand by Majority Decision

The inquiry of the mediators as to whether the railroads would consider individual settlements was discussed by a small group of roads. They said that they would test out the "good faith" of the union leaders on this matter, but they avowed that no settlements would be made on any basis other than that arrived at in the main meeting.

Immediately after the executives declared for a "finish fight" rather than compromise on the seniority issue, Bert M. Jewell, national leader of the striking shopmen, in a formal statement, said that the 600,000 striking employees would accept the challenge of the railroads, and "we will redouble our efforts, confident of success."

He declared that the unions had offered "every concession within reason" and that the Association of Railroads (Continued on page six)

STATE CAN'T GET COAL BUT IT'S COMING IN WHEN LOCAL DEALERS PAY BIGGER PRICE

MADISON, Wis.—The railroad shopmen's strike is holding up priority coal consigned to Wisconsin. J. D. Morrissey, representative of the state fuel committee at Washington, advised P. H. Pressentin, secretary of the committee. He said that nearly 4,000 cars of coal on the tracks are tied up because of transportation difficulties.

Lots of Coal—At a Price

While the state committee is still without fuel for distribution through its priority system, private dealers are getting coal much above those established as fair by Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Mr. Pressentin said. These coal concerns are finding that they can fill emergency orders of Wisconsin concerns, as indicated by their ability to meet needs of coal users.

Whether the state fuel committee will be able to get coal depends entirely on transportation at present, with no assurance at this time that 400,000 tons can be secured this week or 600,000 tons next week, Mr. Morrissey wired after going over the situation with Secretary Hoover.

Loading cars and allowing them to stand on tracks does not help the Wisconsin situation," Mr. Pressentin said in a reply to the advice from Washington. He argued that every means be used to get the cars started to lake ports.

Coal for Dealers

Coal moving into Wisconsin and other lake states is coming largely to individual dealers, and at least 30 per cent of it, Mr. Morrissey said, at higher prices than those set by the national administration.

This caused him to advise that "unless the joint machinery of the lake states and the federal government is placed in force at once, we will have no restriction against abnormal prices to consumers until the fuel bill is passed by congress."

There is nothing the state fuel committee can do to apportion coal until it arrives, Mr. Pressentin said, expressing the opinion that priority coal cannot be expected for another week.

THOUSANDS MOURN AT COLLINS' BIER IN IRISH CAPITAL

Fiance and Sister Among First to View Body in the Chapel

MANY KISS FOREHEAD OF SLAIN COMMANDER

O'Higgins, O'Connell and O'Sullivan May Succeed Him

DUBLIN.—By The Associated Press. — Dublin began to recover somewhat Thursday from the shock caused by the death of Michael Collins, and plans went forward for the meeting of the new southern parliament on Sunday, when the ministerial changes necessitated by the sudden removal of Collins and Arthur Griffith are expected to be made.

Meanwhile, William T. Cosgrave is acting as the head of the provisional free state government and Richard Mulcahy as chief of staff, is directing the final phase of the national army's campaign against the irregulars.

The absorbing question of who is going to succeed Collins is voiced on all sides, and, besides Cosgrave and Mulcahy, the names of Kevin O'Higgins, minister of economic affairs; General O'Connell, assistant chief of staff, and General Gerald O'Sullivan frequently are mentioned.

Huge Group of Mourners

General Collins' body reached Dublin by steamer from Cork, and was met by an enormous number of mourners, among whom were representatives of the army, including Chief of Staff Mulcahy.

The coffin, covered with the Irish tricolor, was placed upon a gun carriage, and preceded by a band of pipers, was taken in solemn procession along the silent streets to St. Vincent's hospital. The body will remain in the mortuary of the hospital until Friday, when it will be removed to the city hall to lie in state until Saturday afternoon.

A solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated at 11 o'clock Monday morning in the pro-cathedral, directly after which the body will be conveyed to the famous Glasnevin cemetery, where Collins buried his colleague, Griffith, only a little more than a week ago.

Collins lay dressed exactly as he met death, the uniform bearing the crimson stain which told the story of the end.

Fiance Sees Body

Miss Kitty Kiernan, Collins' fiancee, and his sister, Miss Powell, Collins, were among the first to enter the chapel. After them, others came in a steady stream, many of them lingering before the body and reluctant to leave it. Many kissed the forehead of Ireland's dead commander-in-chief. Meanwhile, nuns moved silently about in the pale light of the candles. Sir John Lavery stood beside the coffin with a canvas painting the portrait of the dead hero.

The Irish Independent commenting on Michael Collins' death, says: "He (Continued on page six)

CUMMINS PROPOSES BILL FOR U. S. REIN ON PRICE OF FUEL

Federal Distribution Agency and Wide Powers to I. C. C. Proposed

WINSLOW BILL PASSED IN THE LOWER HOUSE

Borah to Call Up His Similar Bill in the Senate

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Establishment of a federal fuel distribution agency to meet the present "coal emergency" and the extension of broad powers to the interstate commerce commission with respect to the issuing of embargoes and priorities, is proposed in a bill introduced Thursday by Senator Cummins, republican, Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee.

The office of "federal fuel distributor" would be created by the bill and that official would be empowered to determine facts relative to fuel prices, shortages and supplies generally, production and marketing methods and the reasonableness of profits taken within the industry. He would make reports on his findings to the interstate commerce commission, which could act thereon as warranted.

Winslow Bill Passes

The Winslow bill, proposing a fact-finding investigation of the coal industry by a commission without representation of operators and miners, was passed by the house Wednesday. Chairman Borah of the senate labor committee was prepared to call up Thursday his pending senate bill which, although differing in some respects from the house measure, also has been approved in the main by President Harding. Senator Borah said he believed the senate would pass his bill and it would then be sent to conference for adjustment with the measure passed by the house.

LA CROSSE SENDS GOOD DELEGATIONS TO THREE FAIRS

Cars Carry Many Persons to Galesville, Tomah and Preston Expositions

The delegation which journeyed from La Crosse to the Trempealeau County Agricultural Society Fair at Galesville Wednesday afternoon found a large crowd, a hot day and an unusually fine fair in full swing. Despite the intense heat, thousands of people thronged the grounds for the afternoon's entertainment which consisted of horse racing, baseball, midway attractions and music. The horse races were the main attraction for most of the fair visitors. Several good races being on the card for the day. Galesville was defeated in the baseball game with Trempealeau, the final score being 4 to 0.

Though Thursday is generally conceded to be the biggest day of the society's annual exhibition, there were plenty of interested persons filling through the exhibition building, the poultry house and the livestock pavilion. One of the biggest and best displays of live stock in history of the fair is to be seen at Galesville this year. The public schools of the county also have an interesting exhibit arranged in their special building.

Night fairs, with dancing and special midway attractions, are the features this year. The fair will close Friday night of this week.

Another good sized delegation of La Crosse citizens journeyed in cars to the Tomah fair, leaving earlier in the day. They said the Tomah fair was the best in the history of that association. The display of pure bred livestock is a record breaker, some of the best herds in Wisconsin being shown there.

La Crosse also sent a delegation to the Preston fair Wednesday, several cars making the trip.

FORD PLANT DROPS 3,000 MEN OWING TO LACK OF COAL

DETROIT, Mich.—Three thousand employees of the Ford Tractor plant have been temporarily laid off because of the shortage of coal, it was announced Thursday. The duration of their unemployment, it was said, will depend upon coal receipts during the next few days. The tractor plant normally employs 26,000 men.

COAL CAR LOADINGS LOW

HUNT FOR RADICALS ON FOLLOWING RAID ON RED SECRET MEET IN MICHIGAN

Foster and Sixteen Others Under Arrest; Net Out for Mrs. Stokes and Fifty More

DECLARE THEY PLANNED TO USE THE RAILROAD STRIKE

Wanted to Work it Into Plan for General Spreading of Violence

CHICAGO.—In the arrest of William Z. Foster, head of the Trades Union Educational league, in Chicago Wednesday night, the seizure of seventeen members of the Communist party of America, an underground revolutionary organization and a nation-wide search for more than fifty other persons, including Rose Pastor Stokes of New York City federal and Michigan state authorities last night announced the breaking up of one of the greatest radical conspiracies of recent years.

The majority of those held were captured in a midnight raid in the hills of Berrien county, Michigan twelve miles south of Benton Harbor.

Meet in Sequestered Vale

There the "reds" had assembled their annual convention. To a lonely glade at the bottom of heavily timbered valley they had led their delegates amid greatest secrecy.

Pine knots furnished the light by which their business was transacted; there they heard the reports of personal representative of Lenin and Trotsky of Russia; there, the federal officials aver, plans whereby the existing railroad strike was to be used as a means of spreading their program of violence were discussed.

Michigan's state syndicalism law was the first weapon state and federal authorities planned to use in breaking up what they termed one of the greatest radical and revolutionary conspiracies of recent years.

As the seventeen captured in Michigan faced syndicalism charges at St. Joseph, William Z. Foster, leader of the steel strike of 1919 and one of the foremost radicals of America, is awaiting extradition to Michigan.

Foster Denies Presence

Foster, denying extradition to Michigan, denied he had been at the meeting in Berrien county. He said he had not been away from Chicago during the last few days. He was arrested at his offices which were raided by State's Attorney Crowe Sunday night.

Records seized in the raid on Foster's headquarters and the Michigan rendezvous contained the names of many radicals throughout the country and will prove valuable in the round-up, the authorities said.

Chief among those who were arrested in the raid on the meeting place at the forest resort near Bridgeport was C. E. Ruthenberg, once a candidate for mayor of Cleveland.

Trailing some of those who escaped detectives asserted the belief that Mrs. Stokes was among the fugitives. Efforts to locate her were redoubled today.

For three days federal officials watched the radical meeting in Michigan, powerless to act without authority from Washington. Then came a tip to the radicals. All but seven disappeared within an hour. The rest were surrounded by sixty deputy sheriffs, members of the Michigan state constabulary, and agents of the department of justice, and seized.

Foster Captured in Chicago

Foster, one of the escaping ones, was trailed to Chicago. He turned up at his office at 118 North La Salle street Wednesday. He was arrested just after he had issued statements denying his implication in the convention to newspaper men. He was taken to the detective bureau, thence to the Wabash avenue station while warrants and extradition papers were awaited.

Following the raid, the federal agents began combing the territory surrounding the meeting place. They discovered a mound of fresh earth. Below it they found two barrels. One contained five typewriters and a mimeograph machine. The other (Continued on page six)

BURGLAR WANTED HERE CONFESSES IMPLICATING FOUR

Men Held at Wabasha Wanted
by La Crosse Police for Robberies Here

After pleading not guilty to a charge of burglary in the first degree at Wabasha today, Harry Taylor, 21 years old, is alleged by County Attorney John H. Foley to have confessed to robbing the Fred O'Riley sporting goods store at Wabasha and implicated three companions, who also pleaded not guilty.

Harry Taylor, 21; Hugh Durham, 24; Walter Long, 26 and Henry Moore, 28, who said they lived at Springfield, Ill., were arraigned before Justice H. B. Jewell at Wabasha this morning on a charge of robbing the sporting goods store, after they had been captured at St. Paul. The men pleaded not guilty and demanded a preliminary hearing, which was set for August 31. They are held at the Wabasha county jail.

Wanted at La Crosse
They were picked up by St. Paul police at 23 East College avenue Sunday. La Crosse police had been looking for them in connection with several thefts in that city August 5 and they were under suspicion in St. Paul of being implicated in two safe-cracking jobs.

When arrested, a Nash car was recovered. In the car were flashlights and revolvers and other articles similar to those stolen from the Fred O'Riley sporting goods store on August 6.

The men were returned to Wabasha. This morning they said they were motoring from Springfield, Ill., to the harvest fields of Minnesota and Dakota. They said they had passed through La Crosse and Winona.

After they had been arraigned County Attorney John H. Foley took the men and questioned them separately. Taylor, Mr. Foley said, broke down under a grilling examination and confessed that the four of them had robbed the sporting goods store. Taylor said he stood guard and he implicated the other three men, Mr. Foley said.

Kidnapped Sixteen Years Ago, Gypsy's Victim Is Returned To His People

SHEBOYGAN.—After having been kidnapped sixteen years ago by Gypsies while on his way to the village grocery store in the Blue Mountains on an errand for his mother, Cecil Brittan, then five, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Brittan, then of Wabasha, Wash., and a nephew of Mrs. O. C. Wullweber, of this city, has been returned to his home. Detectives were employed and a nationwide search was begun, but brought no results.

The lad had been abandoned by the Gypsies in Portland, Oregon, and was picked up and adopted by a family by the name of Loughlin in Portland.

Later Cecil broke away from that family and wandered about until he was found by C. W. Stark, who identified him by means of scars.

Arms and flashlights valued at about $600 were stolen from the Fred O'Riley sporting goods store at Wabasha on August 6.

According to Sheriff Ed Fitzgerald of Wabasha, the thieves used a glass cutter to remove a small piece of glass from a rear window. A piece of fly paper was stuck over the piece of glass which they removed. The paper cover glass was then struck a light blow. The sticky fly paper prevented it from dropping down on the inside and making a noise.

They then reached in and unhooked the window and entered the place. A check-up disclosed that 10 shotguns, two revolvers and 15 flashlights were taken. The estimated value of the loot is $600. It is believed that other articles are missing.

Sheriff Fitzgerald traced an automobile which had been parked in the alley back of the store for a short distance but a heavy rain obliterated the tracks after they reached the main highway.

"A Sorry Day for Ireland"

AMERICA generally will echo the words of Pat Collins, Chicago, commenting on the assassination of his brother, Michael, the leader of the Irish Free State provisional government:

"It's a sorry day for Ireland."

One can hardly conceive of a fanatic zeal which would go to the length of shooting down Michael Collins, proven patriot by every test in the last few years, and the surviving strong man of the nation since the premature death of Arthur Griffith. Even De Valera, who differed with him on the settlement with England, can hardly believe that Collins was other than sincerely loyal to the cause of Ireland. It is a sad reminder of the responsibility of leadership, this assassination of Collins, for though De Valera did not fire the shot, there can be no doubt that it was his inspiration, that served the trigger finger, and his die-hard determination upon an impossible type of Irish independence that made assassination seem a fit weapon to one of his followers of less understanding.

That there will be men in the Free State government to step into the shoes of Collins and Griffith, and carry on, one hesitates to doubt. It is a familiar saying that no man is indispensable, and some leaders who have been dwarfed by Collins and Griffith may display unsuspected greatness now that the burden has dropped to their shoulders. But in a very real sense these two were the brains of the movement for freeing Ireland. They fought the struggle skillfully and successfully. One can scarcely point to a place where their judgment was at fault, to a single step that they had later to retrieve. New men may be less accurate of judgment, less firm and sure in their policies. Were the Irish Free State a settled and well-established regime, it would make less difference. But it is in the midst of a civil war, not yet fully established. A slip at this crucial time may alter the whole course of Irish history. What would have become of the United States, had Washington or Franklin, or Adams, or all of them, been suddenly cut off?

Murder

A REVOLTING crime has been committed in Sauk county. Newspaper readers know the story. Strangers beat to death three elderly people in order to secure money supposed to be hidden about the premises. The course of inquiry has led to all citizens who are known to have been informed regarding the affairs of the murdered people, in the hope that they might be able to suggest some theory or afford some clew leading to the arrest of the assassins. This hope has failed, and the quest seems to have ended in a blind alley.

The search for the murderers should not be abandoned. Should such a crime go unapprehended and unpunished a premium would have been put upon such atrocities. The escape of the butchers would place a hazard, upon the homes of other citizens.

While no clew has been found that has led anywhere, the case is far from hopeless. There is one distinctive thing about this crime—one thing known about the murderers. Whoever they were, they knew, either from contact or from hearsay, that their victims were presumed to have money in their dwelling. Were one to find all who possess this information, the murderers would be among them. It may be difficult, but it is not an impossible task. If every person who knew the financial habit of the Balzer family were to call the names of all with whom or in whose presence these affairs had been discussed, someone of them would have named the assassins.

Sauk county cannot afford to let this matter go by default. Its county board should make essential appropriations, perhaps including a reward. The governor and the attorney general should be appealed to for assistance. A reward offered in the name of the state might help. A price should be put on the heads of these brutal criminals, big enough to make them insecure in any sanctuary.

China's New Deal

THE services of Wu Pei-fu, Chinese general who licked the Manchurian bully Chang Tso-lin out of his boots before Peking recently, chased the pro-Japanese government out of the capital and recalled President Li, the only Chinese with a shadow of a claim to legal occupation of the presidency, has born fruit in the following incident, reported in cables Wednesday:

SHANGHAI, Aug. 5th.—By the Associated Press.—Sun Yat Sen, leader of the South China faction announced today that peace reigns again between the North and the South and that "the war is ended."

Details are not altogether clear, but it appears that Dr. Sun, who has been conducting a sort of private Chinese republic of his own in Canton, has agreed to bring back his "rump parliament" to Peking to unite with the rest of the old national assembly, and that President Li has agreed to retire in Sun's favor if the parliament chooses Sun president. Thus the differences between north and south are settled, disposing of the most troublesome problem in the way of Chinese unity, barring Japanese interference.

Wu Pei-fu licked the Japanese champion, and the Japs are out of Shantung. With the advent to power of Li and Sun, both of whom are chiefly notable for anti-Japanese policies in every respect, China's rehabilitation seems in a fair way to prosper. The adjustment of the dispute between north and south will help enormously. Remains the rebellion of Chang Tso-lin, who fled to Manchuria and has been mutinous ever since, and the general disorganization of the country under the provincial military dictators. But these are problems that can be solved by a strong central government, honestly administered, undivided in purpose, and free from Japanese interference. Some of these ingredients are visibly present in the new deal in China.

Spirits

A "SPIRIT PICTURE" of Conan Doyle's soldier is printed in the American magazine. Doyle is convinced there was no trickery. He took his own marked photographic plate to the medium, put it in the camera. The medium took a photo of Doyle, who developed the plate himself. The deceased son's likeness showed up in the background. Things like this make shivers run up the spines of many. Most of us are afraid of the departed, no matter how much we loved them in life. If the departed could come back, after being gone a century, they would be equally afraid of the scientific marvels of the living.

Just Before His Wedding

By LILY WANDEL.

It had been very fortunate that he had fallen in love with Leona Simmons. In the first place, it pleased his mother tremendously, for Leona was a special friend of the family, greatly beloved and made much of by his mother and sisters. For fully six months before he proposed, Leona had scarcely missed spending a week-end with them, to say nothing of the many dinners and parties.

In the second place, it was very fortunate for the business, because this was sadly crippled for the lack of new capital. And in the third place, it was going to make things easy for his sisters because Leona, as an attractive widow, wealthy, with an assured social position, would be sure to protect them successfully into the right circles. Truly, it had been fortunate that he, Edgar Wallace, had fallen in love with Leona. He would be on easy street the rest of his life, and besides that he would have the delightful companionship of Leona. She was a little older than he, but that was trifling.

To do Edgar justice, it must be said that if he had not loved Leona sincerely, he never would have asked her to marry him, no matter how alluring all the other details might be. It was indeed fortunate that he had fallen in love with her, he thought very often, and not without a contented, happy smile.

It was pleasant to see his mother fairly brimming over with happiness, the girls aploxy with plans for the future and to be able to see Leona every day. Life seemed like a long sweet dream.

A few weeks before his wedding his mother came to him with a plan. "I can't manage it all by myself, it's too much. Look at the heap of unanswered invitations and things on my desk, what do you think? Can you stretch a point and manage each letter for a few weeks until after the wedding?"

He had forgotten about the arrangement when, a few days later, he met a young person in the library—a very young thing, not more than twenty, slim and not very tall, dark hair that curled naturally—Leona's was straight in the perfect little red mouth and two dark, inquiring eyes. Edgar stared bowed and hurriedly left the room. Later, of course he was introduced to the new secretary.

It was peculiar that during the next few days Edgar had quite a few things to attend to in the library, where the secretary was installed. And it was odd too, the interest he suddenly took in his mother's social affairs. The interest grew tremendously; he had to dictate a few private letters himself and thereby was forced to cancel an engagement with Leona.

His personal correspondence increased. He wanted to get rid of a lot of stuff before his wedding, he told his mother.

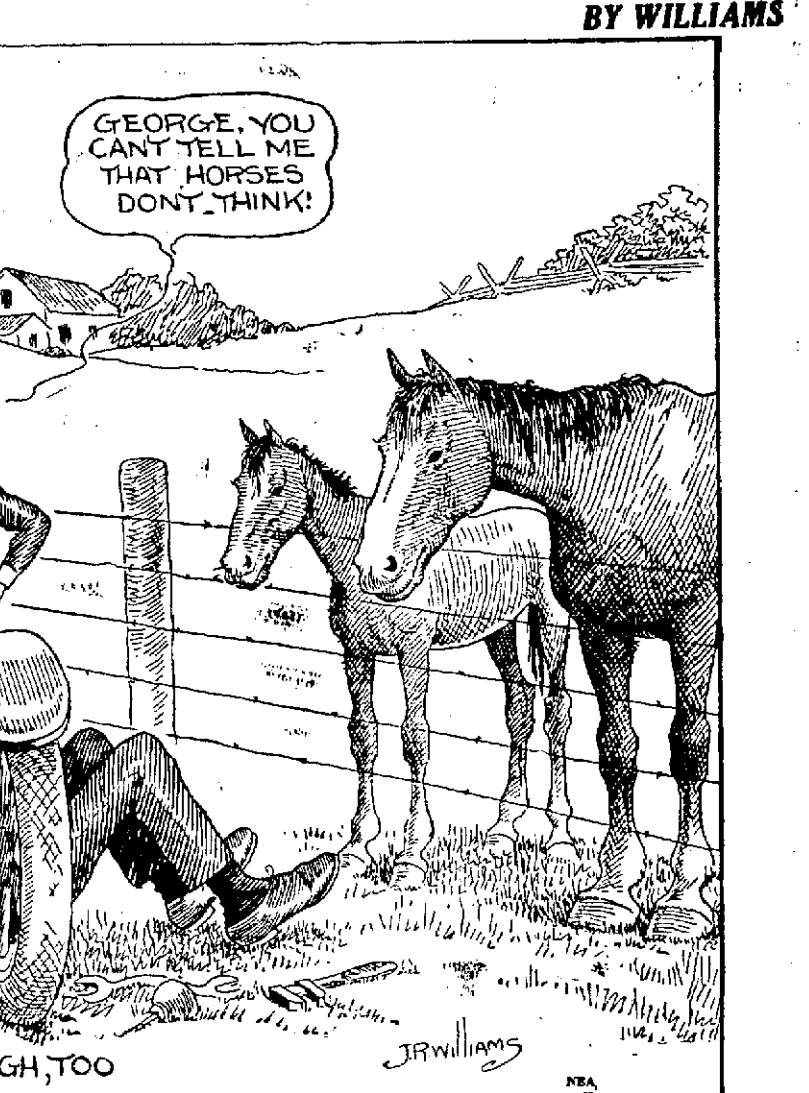

Then it happened that one day when Miss Bowers was going for a bit of fresh air, Edgar was instantly reminded of a letter he had to read special delivery and naturally they left the house together. Edgar thought a tramp through the park would do him good. It was cold and there was a thick layer of snow on the ground. A stray little boy threw a snowball and in two minutes they were having the merriest time imaginable.

When, now, laughing and ranting they continued their walk, he found out her name. "Joanne," but that everybody called her Jo. He rather liked that, Jo, and kept repeating it to himself, so that when he left her and took her hand, he said without thinking, "Good-by, Jo!"

OUT OUR WAY

MAYBE THEY LAUGH, TOO

BY WILLIAMS

A day or two later he confessed to himself that he loved her desperately. Was ever a man in such a predicament? To be married in less than two weeks, the wedding invitations sent out, the very honeymoon trip planned, and then to find he loved this little Jo! Loved her so overwhelmingly that he could not marry Leona, no matter if it killed the whole family.

He lay in bed at night, planning desperately how to tell his mother, and how to tell Leona. A dozen different ways presented themselves, but by the time dawn came he had rejected each one, and was as far with his problem as when he had retired.

The worst of it was he began to realize that his love was returned by little Jo! In her soft brown eyes was an unmistakable light, a wistful, coaxing, dreamy, telltale look! At first his heart bled with joy and then immediately sank in deep despair.

Sleepless nights were telling on him, he looked haggard, luckily everybody was too busy to notice.

A hundred times he was at the verge of hurrying convention to the winds and simply gathering Jo to his heart and telling her of his love, but each time with an almost superhuman effort he controlled himself. That would not be fair to Leona—he must first break with her. He would have a last look—the words would not write themselves—he'd begin another, still another, and then go out in despair.

Then one evening he hurried home from a party determined to speak to Jo at once. He knew the entire family would be out and Jo had some work to finish in the library. Softly he let himself in and tiptoed down he bathed, nor what Gleason said—it was the tone of both; in fact, Edgar did not grasp what they were talking about for quite awhile, then he realized that they were discussing Leona and himself.

They spoke in that easy, congenial manner which clearly evinces that two persons understand each other. If it were not love at least it was a very happy basis for love.

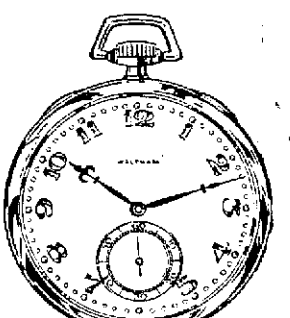

Edgar tiptoed away, out of the house with an indescribable feeling of being escaped a great calamity. He thought of Leona and mentally told upon his knees worshipping—a solemn vow he heart that all through their married life he would atone for the folly of his thoughts by loving devotion. And if Jo loved him well it was not a deep nor sacred love that prevented her discussing him with the butler. As for Gleason, Edgar felt like congratulating the man, he was a fine fellow, the kind who does not stay butling very long, but rides to success in the automobile business or some first-class seashore hotel.

JUDGE GRAASS TO STAY IN RACE FOR CONGRESS ELECTION

Circuit Court Judge Will Fight it Out With Elmer Hall and Schneider

GREEN BAY, Wis.—Judge Henry Graass, who on Wednesday entered the campaign for nomination for congress from the Ninth district, Wednesday issued a statement defining his position.

Judge Graass said he was first appealed to, to enter the race and later petitioned to remain as circuit court judge. He declared he was resolved to let the people decide now that his name was on the ballot and that he would accept their decision as to where his duty rested.

In his statement Judge Graass says he is in favor of some plan to do away with strikes, he favors the soldiers' bonus bill and the lakes-to-the-ocean waterway.

When it was first learned this spring that David Classen, for four years a member of the house from the Ninth district, would not seek reelection, women immediately announced their candidates for republican nomination—Elmer Hall of Green Bay and George Schneider of Appleton. Graass was put up for nomination.

MOTORBOAT STRIKES ROCK AT MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—A $2,000 speed boat belonging to A. Warner, Keosau, crashed from Sturgeon Bay to Kenosha, struck a submerged rock four miles north of North Point Wednesday and was recovered by Captain William Kinkaid and a crew from the U. S. coast guard station.

The boat was traveling not far from the shore because of the fog when the propeller struck the rock, shattering the propeller shaft.

With Mr. Warner was E. Schneider, also of Keosau. The men rowed to shore and telephoned the coast guard. Neither of the men was injured.

DICTIONARY LONG TIME IN MAKING

For three centuries some of the foremost literary men of France have been working at a book that is not yet completed, nor, presumably, ever will be. The work is the forty "Immortals" of the French academy, and the book is their French dictionary. The French academy, says the Mentor magazine, was founded early in the Seventeenth century by a group of young men who wished to purify and embellish the language. They undertook to publish a dictionary, a rhetoric, and a grammar. In 1694 the dictionary was published, but the first part of it was then already out of date, and needed revision. And so it has gone ever since. Members are elected for life. They seek entrance and must visit each of the thirty-nine members in turn when seeking admission.

NAVY TRAINING PLANE OF UTMOST SAFETY IS BOUGHT BY GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON.—A new type of seaplane which is almost capable of flying without a pilot, has been delivered to the navy department. The plane, designed for the training of student aviators combines safety features never before equaled in aircraft, navy officers said, with qualities of speed and maneuver ability. It was delivered at the naval air station at Anacostia after a successful 700-mile run from the factory at Ogdensburg, N. Y.

In testing the plane for stability the pilot released the controls, taking his hands and feet off of them, said Commander T. G. Ellison, of the bureau of aeronautics, who brought the craft to Washington. "The throttle was cut to low speed and the plane went into a long glide. He then speeded up the engine and, still without the controls being touched, the plane leveled off and continued in normal flight, making about sixty knots."

The plane was made to navy specifications by the Huff-Daland company, of Ogdensburg, and will be known as the Huff-Navy "HN-1." It is equipped with a Hispano Suiza engine of the type which recently passed a record breaking test of 250 hours continuous running on a navy test here.

The problem advises the building of four big cemeteries 15 miles out of Paris, with railroad service to and from the city.—Scientific American.

QUIZ POMMERENING IN HIS LIBEL SUIT OF CAPITAL TIMES

OSHKOSH, Wis.—E. C. Pommerening, president of the Wisconsin Society of Equity, was examined under the discovery statutes before Court Commissioner W. C. ## DEPUTY SHERIFF ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING STRIKE ORDER

Alleged to Have Locked up Railroad Police in North Fond du Lac MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Indicating that Louis Fallon, 32, village marshal of North Fond du Lac and a deputy sheriff of Fond du Lac county, had violated the federal court's injunction prohibiting interference with railroad employees at work, Judge P. A. Geiger adjourned until next Tuesday after hearing of the contempt of court citation issued against Fallon.

According to testimony, Fallon arrested and locked up two special policemen of the Chicago and Northwestern road who had brought 22 laborers from Chicago to North Fond du Lac, a railroad town.

Fallon said he had arrested the two men in response to a call that two Chicago gunmen were in the village. He said he found them pointing revolvers at a group of boys and four men on the railroad yards. Further testimony is to be heard.

Change the Oil in Your Motor Put in En-ar-co Motor Oil

WHITE ROSE GASOLINE

Powerful Pure, Dry No Free Carbon Quick Starting Full Power Long Mileage

EN-AR-CO GEAR COMPOUND For Transmission and Differential

YOUR motor will run better and last longer if the lubricating oil is taken out every five hundred miles and fresh oil put in. Motor manufacturers recommend it.

When a low grade of gasoline is used—one that is not volatile and pure—it does not respond to the spark quickly enough. The stroke of the piston is over before it all ignites. This unconsumed gasoline is then thrown off through the exhaust—and most of it often slips down past the piston rings into the crank case, diluting and making the motor oil lifeless. A certain amount of dust is also drawn into the crank case, as well as tiny particles of metal that may chip off from various parts of the motor. This causes wear and carbon formation so that fresh oil, at regular intervals, is essential.

Carbon is mostly formed by the oil that seeps past piston rings upward, depositing on the piston rings, cylinder head and plugs where the intense heat from the spark bakes it hard.

To overcome an excess amount of oil seeping upward, an oil of great adhesiveness and heat resisting qualities must be used.

En-ar-co Motor Oil has the "body" to hold up and withstand the greatest heat any motor will develop, retaining at all temperatures its cushioning properties, which is essential to prevent friction and insure a smooth running motor. En-ar-co Motor Oil has greatest adhesive qualities. It forms a seal around the pistons which tends to prevent excess oil to accumulate and form carbon on cylinder head and plugs.

We say to you that if you use En-ar-co Motor Oil you have the remedy that will insure a smooth running motor. You will get more and will operate your car more economically.

HARD COAL STRIKE STILL DEADLOCKED OVER ARBITRATION

Both Sides Receptive But Neither Makes Move to Re-open Parley

PENNSYLVANIA MINERS WIN CHECK-OFF DEBATE

Operators Happy Over Getting a District Agreement

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—While both sides were said to be in a receptive mood Thursday, there was no sign of a move either from the operators or miners toward suggesting a solution of the deadlock over arbitration in the hard coal fields which resulted in breaking up the peace parleys here Tuesday.

Settle in Pennsylvania

ALTOONA, Pa.—By The Associated Press.—Union leaders are notifying their 45,000 miners in the central Pennsylvania field to return immediately to the pits they left five months ago, while operators were rushing plans that will mean production of 50,000,000 tons of coal a year. This activity followed the signing of an agreement Wednesday night.

Both sides claim the agreement as a victory. The miners retain the check-off and are to receive the same wage scale as that in effect on March 31. The operators got a district agreement, strenuously opposed by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Kansas Mines Resume

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—By The Associated Press.—The cleaning up of some 250 coal mines idle since April 1, preparatory to resumption of operation, got under way Thursday morning in the Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas coal fields. Whistles at the mines blew following the settlement here late Wednesday, by scale committees of the southwest interstate coal operators' association and the United Mine Workers of America. George L. Peck, provisional president of the Kansas miners and a member of the national committee, said that coal had been in cars by next Monday and that normal production will be reached by September 1.

Michigan Mad at U. S.

LANSING, Mich.—By The Associated Press.—Indications of a break between the state and federal coal administration, under prompt steps taken to relieve the acute coal shortage in Michigan, were apparent Thursday.

Governor Alexander J. Groesbeck already had fired the opening gun of the looming controversy. The governor made a statement sharply criticizing the federal fuel administration. When he was informed by Mr. Potter that the advisory board of the federal fuel administration is composed of coal operators, the governor declared: "It is a strange state of affairs when an advisory board, composed of operators is allowed to question the credit of the state of Michigan."

Refuse State's Pledge

He referred to the action of the board in turning down the state's guarantee of $1,000,000 for priority coal and insisting upon cash deposits in the banks.

State officials were concerned by reports from Washington that Michigan's order for priority coal had been further reduced. Originally the order was for 150,000 tons. A few days ago it was halved. Now it has been cut to 50,000 tons, it was announced. Half a million tons of coal are needed for strictly essential purposes, it was said, yet only 50,000 tons can be obtained within the next thirty days. A number of large flour mills in the state were reported to be close to shutdown.

RAISING A SAWFISH FAMILY

The officials of the aquarium at Miami Beach a short time ago endeavored to secure in a big net a porpoise to see if it could be kept alive in an outdoor tank, and when hauling it in were surprised to find that a sawfish had become entangled. A successful effort was made to bring the specimen in alive, and it was placed in the 38-foot tank inside of the aquarium.

It was tempted with different varieties of its natural food but it would not eat or move around in the tank, excepting perhaps once in twenty-four hours it would move a few feet but always along the bottom. Four days after it was placed in the tank it gave birth to nine young, each about one foot long, six inches of which was saw, and nature had provided that each little saw was enclosed in a silicious veil, thus protecting the mother and the other offspring from the saws.

At the end of three weeks the mother died, either from starvation or a broken heart, but the little fellows, knowing nothing else, began to eat what was offered, little shreds of spray lobster and cut up mullets, thriving and growing very nicely, not being interfered with by the other fish, and taking a good deal of exercise swimming the length of the tank, generally near the floor. After three months, during which time they had grown to a little more than two feet in length, they were attacked by some sort of parasite and one by one died.

The Other Half

"How'll you have yo' eggs, boss?" asked the colored waiter in a country hotel.

"I don't want any eggs," said the traveler, who had had a bad night. "Every time I stop at one of these cheap hotels all I hear is eggs, eggs, eggs. Haven't you anything else on the bill of fare?"

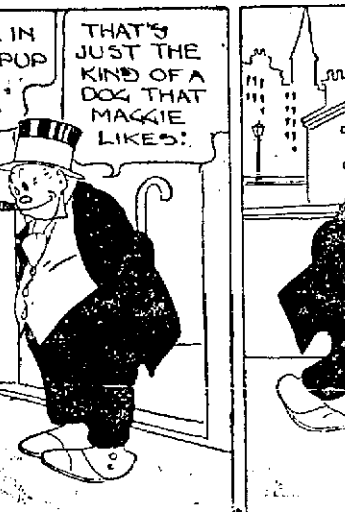

"Well, boss," said the waiter, hopefully, "we's got bacon."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

FORMER LA CROSSE GIRL WEDS LESTER GLEASON TUESDAY

AT NINE O'CLOCK Tuesday morning at the Church of the Incarnation at Minneapolis, Helen Agnes, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. McGaughren, 1024 Pillsbury avenue, became the bride of Mr. Lester B. Gleason of Minneapolis. The marriage rites were read by the Rev. Thomas Schoey.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bernice McGaughren, as bridesmaid and little Gwyneth McGaughren, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Dennis Gleason. The bride was given in marriage by her father and the ushers were Messrs. Gregory Lamm and Eugene Galvin of Minneapolis.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white Duchess lace over satin. Her veil was of tulle which was held in place by a bandeau of Duchess lace and a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, lilies of the valley and baby's breath. The bridesmaid wore orchid georgette over beige satin crepe and carried yellow gladioli combined with lilies. The little flower maid wore a petal frock of pale pink georgette and carried a dainty basket of roses.

A beautifully appointed four course breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Covers were laid for thirty-five, including relatives and intimate friends of the bride.

The home was elaborately decorated for the occasion with huge baskets of pink gladioli, roses and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Gleason left on a honeymoon trip to Duluth and from there will take a lake trip to points in northern Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Gleason will be at home to their friends after September 1 at 3329 Nicollet avenue, Minneapolis.

The McGaughren family is well known in this city, having been former residents. Those attending the marriage from this city were Mrs. W. A. Devine and daughters, Mrs. M. A. Edman and Rosalind, Mrs. M. Haley, Mrs. Edward J. Marcon and Mr. T. J. Harrison.

MRS. D. A. GATTERDAM and daughter, Miss Helen Dyson, are spending several weeks at Lake Chetek. Dr. Gatterdam will later join his wife and daughter.

HARBORD IS SLATED TO FOLLOW PERSHING

The VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know how Useful It is in Preserving Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the causes and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, and after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the noxious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, they are composed of the most powdered Willow charcoal, in tablet form or rather in the form of large pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being sweetened to be smooth and palatable.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon effect a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

Many physicians advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to patients suffering from gas, stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. Charcoal is also believed to greatly benefit the liver, chest, kidneys, etc., but there is a box at drug stores, and you get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets.—Advertisement.

BRITAIN IS NOT GUARANTOR FOR DEBTS OF ALLIES

Mellon Explains that all Borrowers Stand on their Own Bottom With United States

NO RELATION BETWEEN U. S. AND BRITISH OBLIGATIONS

We Have Nothing to Do With What Allies Owe Britain

WASHINGTON.—Funding of the $4,135,000,000 war debt owed by Great Britain to the United States was declared Thursday by Secretary Mellon to have no relation to the war loans made by the United States and Great Britain to other governments or to questions arising in connection with reparations payments of the former central powers.

Answers Queries
The treasury secretary made his declaration with respect to the British debt in a formal statement issued, he said, on account of numerous inquiries reaching the treasury as to the exact status of the obligations of the various European governments held by the United States. Reports have been published and statements made in some quarters, Mr. Mellon said, that the British liability was not incurred for the British government, but for the other allies and that the United States in making the original arrangements had insisted in substance that though the other allies were to use the money borrowed it was only on British security that the United States was prepared to lend it.

On Own Bottoms
"Instead of insisting upon a guarantee, or any transaction of that nature," said Mr. Mellon, "the United States government took the position that it would make advances to each government to cover the purchases made by that government and would not require any government to give obligations for advances made to cover the purchases of any other government. Thus the advances to the British government evidenced by its obligations were made to cover its own purchases."

Mr. Mellon quoted from a memorandum handed the British ambassador by the treasury in June, 1915, setting forth that the treasury deemed it a "cardinal principle" that each allied government should give its own obligations for commodities purchased and from another memorandum handed the British ambassador in June, 1920, which said that British debts to the United States "had no relation either to questions arising concerning the war loans of the United States and of the United Kingdom to other governments or to questions regarding the reparations payments of the central empires of Europe."

WHAT THEY SAY FROM THE STUMP

BLAINE EXPLAINS LACK OF SUITS

OCONTO FALLS, Wis.—Collecting back taxes is the important problem facing the executive and the tax commission, not commencement of law suits that may continue indefinitely with termination, Governor J. J. Blaine told his audience Thursday in answering questions of his opponents calling on him to tell why he has not instituted legal actions against delinquent corporations.

"I think it is vitally important to collect these taxes first," the governor said. "The taxes withheld run into millions and you can't put a corporation in jail."

"We have had experience in this state in bringing law suits for the collection of taxes. In 1914 the state sued the Pullman Sleeping Car company for delinquent taxes. It was only this summer when our state supreme court handed down a final decision in that case, nearly eight years after the suit was started, and the Pullman company still has the right to appeal to the United States supreme court and drag the case along for years."

"As fast as the tax commission reports to your governor on questions of the liability of corporations and their officers, suits will be directed. But I don't propose in these times to delay the collection of millions of dollars withheld in order to debate the question of the collection of forfeitures at the end of a period of eight or ten years. We will collect the taxes first and talk about law suits afterwards."

PAULSEN HITS LA FOLLETTE PLAN

NEW LONDON, Wis.—When Senator La Follette advocates change in the constitution to permit congress to determine finally the constitutionality of laws he is striking at the foundation of American government, Martin R. Paulsen, candidate for secretary of state, said in a talk here.

He said that the federal constitution contains within itself provision for its expansion or alteration to suit the changing needs of the country. "Not only is La Follette striking at the root of our government when he attacks the constitution," the candidate said, "but he is grossly inconsistent."

"He has taken occasion many times to declare that congress is controlled by capitalistic interests and at the same time he favors resting with that body the final decision as to the constitutionality of laws. Just where does he stand?"

"There is a subject which he dared present to the convention of the federation of labor at Cincinnati, but which he has not seen fit, and for obvious reasons, to discuss with the people of this state."

LEVITAN BOOSTS FOR PRESIDENT

BLOOMINGTON, Wis.—If there had been a national primary election system such as he said this country needs, Robert M. La Follette would long ago have been president of the United States, Solomon Levitan, candidate for state treasurer, asserted in a campaign talk here.

"We will get a different class of men for president once the primary system is put in place, as I hope to see it," Mr. Levitan continued. "I have worked for the primary election law ever since I entered politics a quarter of a century ago, and I want to see it broadened."

"Instead of taking power away from the people, I am in favor of giving power to the people. Those who want to change and destroy the primary election law are afraid of the people. Let every person put his shoulder to the wheel that real progressives may be elected to office and then with progressives in, we will start a movement that will become national for naming presidents by direct vote of the people."

GANFIELD SPEAKS WITH MORGAN

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The proposal of Senator Robert M. La Follette that congress be given power to pass legislation over a decision of the United States supreme court holding it unconstitutional, was condemned as a plan to undermine the federal government by William A. Ganfield, republican candidate for the United States senate in opposition to Senator La Follette, during his speech here. Mr. Ganfield spoke with Attorney General William J. Morgan, candidate for governor, in opposition to Governor Blaine.

"Should the power of the supreme court to pass upon constitutionality of acts of congress be nullified by legislation," "congress would be greater than the constitution and the government ordained by the people would cease to exist," the candidate asserted. It is such a plan that Senator La Follette proposes, he said.

Referring to the tariff, Mr. Ganfield said that if he had been a member of the present senate during the recent works he would have been present to assist "in revising tariff scheduled to a better conformity with American ideals of justice. Absence from the senate during the consideration and passage of important legislation confesses lack of interest, loss of power, an unwillingness to share responsibility for the action of the body," he said, speaking of Senator La Follette.

War Not an Issue

"Again, the candidate declared that the world war is not an issue in this campaign. The conduct of the senior Wisconsin senator and his attitude after war was declared are a real issue before the citizens of the state. Any member of congress had a full right to vote for or against a declaration of war but once war was declared, a holder of public office had only two choices, either support the government with all his power or resign his place."

"We are now confronted with radical proposals to the effect that the right of the supreme court to decide upon the constitutionality of acts of congress be taken away," Mr. Ganfield continued, referring to his discussion of the La Follette proposal to give congress power to pass on judgments of the supreme court.

"Who is to decide when congress is acting in pursuance of the constitution in making a law?" he asked. "The supreme court must do so. It cannot escape the duty. It is a question which shall prevail, the constitution or the act of congress."

Strikes at Justice

"When a citizen denounces the courts for setting aside a law as unconstitutional, he strikes in the face the spirit of justice that protects his family, his property, his liberty and his life. Imagine laws prepared by Berger, Hearst and La Follette and passed by a congress made up of similar types. Imagine the inability of the supreme court to declare them invalid. This government of ours might last six months or a year under such circumstances."

"If congress is such a terribly bad body of men, as we are sometimes told, if they are all the tools of predatory wealth, then we better hold over them the restraints of the constitution, or if there is danger that congress may be constituted of Russian radicals we still need the guaranteed safe guards which the constitution provides."

"Wisconsin citizens recognize the full right of our own senior senator to defend his claims for renomination, but the citizens do not welcome dictation of the choice of men for state and local offices. The citizens of our state are quite able to select their own officers and members of the state legislature and state officers without dictation as to choice."

"I believe I can co-operate with other men in the senate and congress and secure their attention and consideration of matters of interest to the citizens of the state of Wisconsin, and I make a solemn pledge to the people of the state that if I am elected to the senate I will give all the intellect and judgment I possess, all my personal interest and sympathy and all the influence I may acquire in co-operation with our government for the good of all Wisconsin, the United States and the world."

BLAINE MINORITY CHOICE—BAKER

WAUSAU, Wis.—Speaking in favor of an amendment to the primary election law which would require majority nominations, John F. Baker, candidate for attorney general, pointed out that in the last primary election only two candidates received a majority of the votes. He said that he favored nomination of candidates by the primary system.

Figures presented by Mr. Baker showed that Gov. J. J. Blaine in the last primary received 29.87 per cent of the vote, Lieut. Gov. Comings, 45 per cent; Elmer Hall, 53 per cent; Harry Johnson 40 per cent and Attorney General Morgan 53 per cent. Some way should be devised so that the will of the majority could be determined in making nominations, he said.

MORGAN SAYS BLAINE TRIED TO BLOCK SUITS

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Any candidate for governor who not only failed while he was attorney general to take action to protect people of the state from an unjust burden of transportation costs and who while he was governor actually opposed granting authority to the present attorney general to bring an action to protect the people against such greater burden of transportation charges than the Esch-Cummings law ever imposed is in no position to talk about the law, Attorney General William J. Morgan said in a campaign talk here, referring to Gov. J. J. Blaine.

Attorney General Morgan told of his efforts to institute an action against the drainage district of Chicago for diversion of the waters of Lake Michigan, impeding navigation at Wisconsin ports and increasing transportation costs millions of dollars, as he said. Governor Blaine, he said, had failed as attorney general to institute such an action, and as governor had attempted to prevent Attorney General Morgan from carrying out the suit.

"Many will remember that on May 29 of this year I went to Washington to ask the Supreme Court of the United States to file suit against the state of Illinois and the Chicago drainage district from taking a huge volume of water from Lake Michigan," Mr. Morgan said. "The effect of taking the tremendous volume from this lake and lowering the water in our harbors six inches is to make it impossible to load carriers to capacity."

"Our government engineers have computed that the loss of carrying capacity due to the lowering of the water in the harbors has increased transportation charges millions of dollars annually. This was all going on while my opponent was attorney general but he did nothing to stop it."

"During the last session of the legislature I addressed a letter to the governor, the state senate and the assembly telling them of the situation and asking authority to bring suit. The administration opposed granting this authority so successfully that it was defeated on the first vote in the assembly, and I had to make a personal appeal to members of the legislature to get them to reconsider their votes."

"Think of it. Your attorney general had to make a personal appeal to get authority to bring an action to protect the people of the state against the diversion of the waters of Lake Michigan. The position of the governor, in fact, of the attitude on this matter of vital importance to Wisconsin, the governor is in no position to talk about the Esch-Cummings law."

"In the words of the government statement, Collins has been slain but cannot die. His work and worth, if not perhaps adequately recognized by all Irishmen today, will be appreciated by generations yet unborn."

"The best tribute the nation can pay him is to continue and complete the task upon which his mind and heart were centered."

Planned Change in Charter

LONDON.—By The Associated Press.—At the time of his death, Michael Collins had under consideration plans to reformat several sections of the constitution of the Irish Free State so as to placate the more radical republican element. This was made known by Michael Francis Doyle, Philadelphia lawyer, who arrived from Dublin, where he went to consult with the members of the provisional government.

Mr. Doyle was the last American, he believes, to see the free state commander in chief alive. He had several conferences with Collins, and on the day before the latter went to the south, where he was fated to fall under a bullet, they went carefully over the different points of the constitution which it had been planned to reformat.

Would Abolish Oath

These points were three in number. The first concerned the taking of an oath of allegiance to the king of England; the second concerned ratification of Irish government acts by the British privy council, while the third hinged upon the stipulation that the powers of the Irish government shall be derived from the treaty between the Free State and England.

If these points could be arranged to satisfy the republican radicals, General Collins believed there was a possibility of including the Irish people as a whole to rally around the constitution. Mr. Doyle has been asked by the remaining Irish leaders to continue his study of the constitution and may return to Dublin with legal suggestions.

Before leaving on his ill-fated journey, General Collins announced that Mr. Doyle with John McCormick, the famous tenor, were the guests of the Irish cabinet at a luncheon in the Shelbourne hotel. Mr. McCormick is visiting his mother, who lives near Dublin.

The story of how the army and navy police system was to be overcome in the final battle between "the proletariat and the capitalists" was retold. It was the most convincing and complete of radical plans ever perused, experts who examined the documents asserted.

A little less than 2,000,000 tons of sand is used in the United States each year in making glass, according to the experts of the geological survey. ## REMEDY FOR THE HOOKWORM

The wretched physical condition of the typical "poor whites" of the south is mainly attributable to the parasite, hookworm, which fastens itself on the intestinal wall and sucks its victim's blood. The public health service has recently discovered that doses of carbon tetrachloride given in capsules will banish hookworms from the sufferer's anatomy. At all events, experiments with monkeys and dogs, and also with fur coats, have been highly successful. The remedy is harmless, but the capsules must be swallowed quickly. If one of them were to open in the mouth or throat and the drug enter the windpipe consequences might be serious.

Mr. Jewell and other union leaders dispelled all hopes of any settlements being made with individual roads by declaring that they had not authorized the brotherhood chiefs to make any such suggestion. "This strike must be settled on a national basis," explained Mr. Jewell.

Reports sent broadcast by a news association that the executives, association was split on the acceptance of the brotherhoods' peace proposals were declared erroneous.

In denying this report spokesmen for the executives said that the ranks of the executives stood more solidly together than in any previous conference since the strike began.

Is This a Big 5 Threat?

"The strike can be settled because it must be settled. It must be settled because the public demands a settlement. The crews who now operate the trains form that part of the public which knows best just why a settlement must come. ### BASEBALL BRIEFS

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—New York Yankees held to five hits in two games by Cleveland pitchers, have relinquished the American league lead to St. Louis Browns. In the second game of the series with Cleveland, Coveleskie held the Yankees to three hits and won, 4 to 1, while the Browns swamped out a 6 to 3 victory over the Red Sox at Boston.

Everett Scott, the Yankees' shortstop, went through the game against Cleveland without making an assist. He was credited with one putout.

In the National, while New York was idle in Cincinnati because of rain, the Cardinals took a 6-3 game from the Braves. The Pirates continued their winning streak, defeating the Phillies 1 to 3 and Sherrod Smith, of Brooklyn, shamed the Cubs, 6-9.

Cobb's Tigers suffered their first defeat of the week, falling before the Athletics, 6 to 3, and Washington thrashed the White Sox, 11 to 3.

NELSONS IN RETURN GAME WITH WINONA LEGIONS ON SUNDAY

Jim Shaw Will Pitch for Locals; Ackenbach for Winona; Whitehall Friday

The Nelson Clothing company baseball club will meet the Winona American Legion in a return game here next Sunday at Copeland park. The management of the Nelsons announced Wednesday that Jim Shaw of Minneapolis has been booked to pitch the game Sunday.

Shaw has a long record of good service in the big leagues, having been one of Washington's leading pitchers for eight years. He pitched several games for the Minneapolis association team during the first part of the present season, and it is understood that he is still the property of the Minneapolis club.

The Winona team will be without the services of Schultz, who pitched them to victory over the Nelsons last Sunday, 5 to 3. It has been rumored that they have signed Ackenbach to toss the game for them. Ackenbach is well known locally, having pitched for Winona just year and also appearing once or twice in the box for the La Crosse club last season. He finished the season last year in the Northern league, where he established a good record.

For their Labor day game the Nelsons have secured the services of Lefty Oldenwald of Hudson. Oldenwald is under contract with Cleveland, but is considered too young for the big show as yet. The youthful hurler

Did You Get the Bottom Price, After All?

The man who buys a "long discount" tire usually finds himself troubled by the above question.

Did he pay less for the tire than his neighbor might have paid, or actually did he pay more?

Did he get the bottom price, when all is said and done, or could he perhaps have driven a sharper bargain?

Was the net price really more than he might have had to pay for a tire of established reputation and value?

In the belief that the average motorist prefers a frank and open transaction, we built the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord and discounted the "discount" in advance.

Instead of listing it at a high price, to enable the dealer to attract you with a so-called "long discount," we list it as low as we profitably can.

We build it of high-grade long-staple cotton, using the patented Goodyear method of group-ply construction, and sell it at a lower price than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown worth.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

TWO MORE STRIKERS GET SENTENCE IN MILWAUKEE

One Confesses Plot to Blow Up Dining Car in the Yards

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Two Milwaukee shop strikers, Conrad Krehling and Henry Koch, were sentenced to sixty days in the house of correction by Judge Geiger today in keeping with his attitude toward violators of strike injunctions, established yesterday when he sentenced two Kaukauna strikers to twenty days each.

Their alleged offense was to take part in the stoning of a workers train near the Merrill Park depot on August 16.

Frank Schmidt, 31 Milwaukee, a striker, who pleaded guilty to plotting the blowing up of a diner in the Third ward yards of the Chicago and Northwestern here, was sentenced to ninety days by Judge Geiger.

GENERAL LABOR WAR REPORTED PLANNED RAIL STRIKE HELP

Unions Throughout Country
Calling for General Strike
Asserts Sioux City Leader

RAILROAD VIOLENCE REPORTED SUBSIDING

Past Twenty-four Hours See
Less Trouble

CHICAGO, Ill.—With the New York peace conference still holding the center of the railroad strike stage Thursday, situations at many railway centers remained acute and disorders continued as the shippers' strike approached the end of its eighth week.

The rail strike entered its fifty-fifth day with reports from Sioux City, Iowa, that plans have been maturing for weeks for a general nationwide strike of organized labor. John Shanks, secretary of the Trades and Labor assembly of Sioux City, was authority for the statement that a move for a general labor war was on foot.

Mary Ask Strike

Union organizations throughout the country have made demands of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, to call a strike, Shanks said. The Sioux City assembly passed the resolution, following the lead of Central labor organizations in Omaha, Denver, Detroit, San Francisco, and other industrial centers, according to the Sioux City secretary.

No day since the rail strike began has been without its violence. While the last twenty-four hours were exceptionally quiet they were not without their contributions to the history of the railroad strike of 1922.

At Waco, Texas, R. T. Campbell, chairman of the striking shippers, and two other men were arrested by state rangers charged with violation of the Texas open port law in connection with the flogging of a railroad employee. Two arrests in the case had previously been made.

A railroad guard at Roseburg, Ore., broke up a fight between guards and strikers by firing a shot over the heads of the combatants. One of the guards was badly beaten in the fight.

"IN THE NAME OF THE LAW" GREATEST FILM EVER MADE

That "In the Name of the Law" is the show at the Riviera, Strand and Casino theaters here, alternately for a period of six days beginning Monday, Aug. 28, is a fine picture is borne out by communications received by A. J. Cooper, exhibitor, from the police chiefs of both Minneapolis and St. Paul, who have seen the film and give it the highest endorsement.

"There is no doubt in my mind but that this great picture will have a marked tendency to create a better feeling between the general public and the police officers than exists at the present time," is the comment of M. Reibhardt, chief of police of St. Paul. "I have not much time for the general run of motion pictures but this production is so entirely different and so worth while in its mission that I feel I would be doing myself, my men at arms and my public a grave injustice if I did not give this film my heartiest recommendation."

"While perhaps not what one would call a production catering to the spectacular 'In the Name of the Law' is a film that will carry a wonderful message to all who see it," says Chief A. C. Jensen of Minneapolis. "Myself and a number of my officers viewed a private showing of the picture at the Strand theater in Minneapolis and I can safely and truly say that I never spent a more enjoyable or profitable evening."

SHOP STRIKE LEADER CALLS PRESIDENT A "BIG WALL FLOWER"

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—Charging that President Harding had broken his faith with the striking shopmen in his efforts to settle railroad troubles, Timothy Leary, international president of the stationary firemen, Wednesday called him "that great big wall flower in the white house," in a speech before the convention of New York State Federation of Labor. He referred to Chief Justice Taft as a man "who couldn't get a job as constable or dog catcher in any election anywhere in the United States."

GINSENG THIEVES ARE TRAILED BY TWO BLOODHOUNDS

Ginseng thieves, the first reported in Winona or Fillmore county, escaped from the Iowa line after Sheriff C. E. Christianson and County Attorney S. P. Partridge of Preston, had trailed them for 48 hours. Bloodhounds were used.

More than $600 worth of ginseng, a valuable medicinal root, was dug up from the George Sauer farm near Neuberg. The remainder of the patch was also badly trampled and damaged. The total loss is estimated at $1,000.

The bloodhounds lost the trail after a heavy rain Sunday night. Ginseng is probably the most valuable crop raised in Minnesota and Wisconsin and this is the first time a ginseng theft has been reported to authorities.

American ginseng has a sweetish taste like that of licorice and the greatest portion of the crop is exported to China, where it is considered extremely valuable for its medicinal properties.

Dorothy Vernon Warns Against "Filler"

A New Discovery About Fabrics

Textile mills avoid the ordinary white and yellow laundry bars that are part of "filler" and only part soap, says Dorothy Vernon, writing to women in a large number of newspapers. "The fabric mills use olive oil soap because its residues never harm fibers or colors, but on the contrary, olive oil imparts softness, freshness and sweetness unlike anything else that is known."

It was not until recently, she says, that the housewife could wash her clothes as the manufacturer does. But now the Faber-Castell Co. has given the home a large, pure all-olive laundry bar named GREEN ARROW. It contains not "filler"—but real olive oil and soda. The olive oil—not coloring—gives it its greenish shade. Like fine castle. There never has been another laundry soap that leaves the hands of the woman who washes so soft, white and girlish. Nor one that is as mild to your clothes as olive oil shampoo is to your hair.

Probably you wash from $75 to $100 worth of clothes a week—the average family does. Will you continue to risk this to cheap laundry soap that seems to satisfy but fills your clothes with tiny spots and holes?

These are caused by nasty "filler" put into common laundry soap to make it big and weighty. But "filler" has no washing power. You rub it into the materials and it clings there and rots and eats the threads. GREEN ARROW is all soap—no "filler." You'll find in a month or two that you're buying only about half as many bars because GREEN ARROW is all cleaning power and goes nearly twice as far as the ordinary laundry soap.

AT THE MAJESTIC

If your wife wants to cut her hair, and you object, take her to see "Bobbed Hair," starring Wanda Hawley which opened last night at the Majestic theater, and let her see what happened to Miss Hawley after she bobbed hers.

If your sweetheart is timid about cutting her locks, and you think it would improve her, take her to see the picture.

In other words, this clever Realart picture is an amusing satire of the Greenwich Village set, but interwoven with this are certain human problems, of the girl dissatisfied with home surroundings, of the married flit and his wife and children. Miss Hawley gives an artistic portrayal of Polly Heath, the heroine.

CONVENTIONAL OR CAVEMAN LOVE? TAKE YOUR CHOICE

Overworked romance comes in for a few hard bumps. The hammer is wielded hard against woopy romances who build air castles, and the person who wears the hammer is none other than Constance Talmadge, popular screen star, whose latest Paramount attraction, "The Primitive Lover," will be shown at the Rivoli Theater for three days commencing today.

The lesson is emphasized by the fact that it is the star herself upon whom it is impressed in the evolution of the picture. The conventional distaste is turned into a triangular demonstration as to what kind of love making a woman wants, for Phyllis Tomley, imaginative daughter of romance, finds herself beset by two suitors.

"The Primitive Lover" is an original.

AT THE CASINO

A new note in photoplay endings was struck in Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount Picture, "If You Believe It, It's So," now on view at the Casino Theater. Instead of the familiar "clinch" with the hero attired in silk hat and spats, full dress togs or an up-to-date business suit, the story fades out on Mr. Meighan in overalls working around an orphanage shortly to be opened. The star wields a paint brush and a hammer instead of a cane.

BETTY COMPSON WEDS ONE HUNDRED TIMES

A hundred times married! But only in the motion pictures. Betty Compson, Paramount star, has been the "better half" of at least that many weddings, beginning with her several years in short comedies. She is "nearly married" again in "The Bonded Woman," now showing at the Riviera Theater.

And the wedding gowns; everything from a gingham apron to the most regal outfit imaginable. John Bowers and Richard Dix have leading roles in the picture, which is based on a story by the late John Fleming Wilson.

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation—then, too, after they have become hard you cannot get all of them out. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dirt and dirt and secretions from the skin and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of calomel powder—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly for a few seconds—wash off and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared, and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition—anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should try this simple method. McKellar of Tennessee Excoriates
Party in Power in Sen-

WASHINGTON.—A speech on the failures and accomplishments of the republican administration was delivered Wednesday in the senate by Senator McKellar, democrat, Tennessee.

Among thirty-six "failures" listed were prohibition enforcement, restoration of normalcy; maintenance of merchant marine; effective adjustment of foreign relations; re-establishment of peace and trade with Mexico; and management of the coal industry and railroads.

"Accomplishments" recited by the senator included the seating of Senator Newberry; reduction of the taxes of the rich, turning over of large portions of public oil lands to oil trusts; increase of passenger and freight rates; deception of nations; and the furnishing of labor of strikers in abundance and to the former service men millions of cases of unemployment.

PIMPLES ON FACE FOR FIVE MONTHS

Hard, Large and Festered, Itched and Burned, Cuticura Heals.

"My trouble was caused by eating too much sweet food. My face broke out with hard, large, red pimples that festered over. They were scattered all over my face and itched and burned a great deal. The trouble lasted four or five months before I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After a few days they afforded relief, and when I had used one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Arthur E. Sandmann, 3915 Denison Ave., Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 8, 1922.

CRUDE OPERATOR IN BLACK HAND GAME SAFELY IN CELL

Demanded $600 from Doctor in Milwaukee, and Meets up
With Sleuths

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—His crudeness of operation at the time honored Black Hand method of extortion led to the arrest of Melvin Boehme, 17, Cedarburg youth, in the exclusive east side residential district of Milwaukee.

Boehme was captured after a hand to hand struggle with detectives, who risked injury from a still-to which he carried.

Boehme had written a note which was delivered by a small boy, to Dr. Lewis Tisdale. It demanded that the doctor place $600 near the door of his garage at 9 p. m. Tuesday night, or suffer the firing of his home and garage and the ultimate murder of himself and family.

Boehme told Captain McCreary he is the youngest of six children of William Boehme. The only reason he could assign for attempting to obtain money from Dr. Tisdale was that he wanted the fun of spending it.
